

JOURNEYMAN SUBMISSION FORM

READ THIS FIRST

As a growing company, Fierce Comics is often creating new opportunities for aspiring artists to illustrate its line of comic books. Opportunities include penciling, inking, coloring and lettering. Opportunities exist for all levels of experience, whether you're a seasoned professional looking for extra work, or an aspiring artist looking for a means to break into the industry. Before you complete the Journeyman Submission Form on the next page, please read the following information to ensure your submission meets the minimum requirements to be reviewed.

WHAT SHOULD BE SUBMITTED:

- A completed and signed submission form. Please be advised that without a signed submission form your submission package will be destroyed without being reviewed.
- Six to twelve pages of photocopied samples of your work for each category you are submitting within. For sequential art pencil submissions, be sure to include consecutive pages showing your ability to tell a story using illustrations. Send only copies of your work, as your submission package will not be returned to you. For coloring examples, please include color prints of your work.
- If applicable, please include an additional page outlining any additional experience that you feel qualifies you for a freelance opportunity with Fierce Comics.

WHAT SHOULD NOT BE SUBMITTED:

- Original Art. Your submission package will not be returned to you, so send only copies of your work.
- Original characters, ideas, designs or story suggestions. This submission is only intended for use as a means to demonstrate your ability to produce creative work under a freelance agreement with Fierce Comics, using Fierce Comics characters and stories. Fierce Comics is not soliciting any freelancer originated characters, ideas, designs, or story suggestions at this time. Your submission package should contain characters already in print and known to the general public.
- Writing samples. Fierce Comics is not accepting writing submissions at this time. Any writing submissions sent to Fierce Comics will be destroyed without being reviewed.

Given the volume of submissions we receive, we cannot respond to each directly. If your work matches the quality and style required for a title we will contact you with additional information. We look forward to seeing your work.
